

Managing Civil Actions in Threat Incidents (MCATI): Command Course(MGT-300)

Emergency response agencies that handle weapons of mass destruction (WMD) incidents are required to address consequent civil disturbances. Poor crowd management within general proximity of a WMD event may result in further spread of chemical or biological contamination. Civil actions in threat incidents are known by a variety of names: riots, civil disturbance, protest. From a small peaceful assembly to a large out-of-control, violent confrontation, public safety must be prepared to handle the incident. This course provides knowledge and skills in areas such as history of civil disturbance, planning, incident command systems, community and media relations, demonstrator tactics, riot control agents, legal perspectives, doctrinal concepts, crisis decision making, team tactics, force multipliers, and fire ground tactics. Each module is based in classroom lecture with exercises integrated throughout (as appropriate) followed by practical Command Post Exercise tabletop conducted during the last day of training.
